Michael Dweck

Vice President &
Chief Financial Officer,
Lockheed Martin
Rotary and
Mission Systems

Michael Dweck is vice president and chief financial officer (CFO) for Lockheed Martin Rotary and Mission Systems (RMS). At over $17B in annual sales, RMS includes more than 1000 programs, and spans multiple economic business models including OEM, mission equipment, mission integration, software, training and distribution. This dynamic, diverse portfolio demands an agile and robust financial operating system to optimize resource allocations and measure outcomes.

As CFO, Michael is responsible for leading all RMS financial strategies, processes, and operations, providing the business with a framework for profitable growth. Finance & Business Operations (F&BO) activities include program and functional finance, contracts, estimating, accounting and financial planning & analysis.

Michael previously served as the vice president and chief financial officer for Lockheed Martin Space from 2021 to 2025. At Space, Michael chaired the Space Business Transformation Council, which oversaw Space 1LMX, organizational and affordability initiatives.

In 2019, Michael joined the United Launch Alliance (ULA) Board of Directors, where he currently serves as a board member.

Michael holds a Bachelor of Science in economics from The Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and an MBA with a focus in accounting and finance from the University of Maryland. He is a graduate of the Finance Leadership Development Program and the Finance Leadership Academy, and actively supports the development of next-generation leaders.
